

Zoom In Project

In partnership with MSI international and WPF, YouAct were involved in the development of 'Zoom in!' an education pack designed for use by teachers and youth facilitators to help young people understand developing world and sexual health issues through self expression. Zoom In! Is more than just another sex education project, it is designed to tap into young people's developing sexual awareness and how they relate that to their peers. The aim of Zoom in! is to get young people to think about themselves, whilst at the same time think about and respond to young people like themselves, but who live in the developing world and may be less fortunate.

Zoom in! takes the creative element of that project (the photos/stories) and uses it as a means to encourage young people from around the world to share their thoughts and concerns over sexual and reproductive health and rights. In the process, young people from Europe will not only learn about their own sexual health and rights, but also those of their peers in the developing world.

All of the pictures below are featured in the Zoom in! Project.
